INDIAN APPROPRIATION REA.

The House resumed the consideration of the Schate smeadments to the Indian appropriation bill. The report of the Committee on Appropriations recommending concurrence in some and non-concurrence in others was agreed to as a whole, except where special voices were called for.

MR. FRERY asked a separate voice on the smeadments on which the committee recommending the concurrence in the appropriation. Mr. FEERT saked a separate vote on the smendments on which the committee recommend non-concurrence in the appropriation of $55,755 for payment to Indians in Michigan for the difference between coin and currency paid to them in 1883 and '64 under treaty alpulations, with 5 per cent. interest added theresto. He argued in favor of the amendment.

Mr. S.ABGENT opposed it as catablishing a most dangerous and costly precedent, which would apply to all soldiers and pensioners and other creditors of the Government.

On a count by the tellers there were but 21 years. No further count.

He asked for a separate vote on the amendment in which the Committee on Appropriations recommended non-concurrence in making a large appropriation under the Indian treaties of 1807 and 1898, which treaties the Forlieth Congress had refused to railly, the said there are appropriated to the committee on the control of the House on them as an Instruction to the Committee of Conference, to which the bill will be referred. These appropriations, if made, would run thirty wars, and costable Government between fifty and sky millions.

Ma. PAINE hoped the recommendation of the Committee of Appropriations would be adhered to, and expressed his disapprayal of the entire system of Indian treatile.

The amendments were non-concurred in.
Ma. AXTELLs asked a separate vote on the amendment increasing the appropriation for the incidental expenses of the Indian service in Colorado from $7,50,000 to to 10,000,000.

He opposed the samendment as intended for illustra initiation Indians, who are citizens and voters, to a reservation in San Diego county. He represented the movement as a speculative one to occurre the farms of those mission Indians.

Gen. Lee Opposed to Presents.

(Le rington (vs.) Correspondence Riemand Disparency (vs.) Correspondence Riemand Disparency (vs.)

It is generally known that General Lee has always refused to receive gratuities of any kind—that just as during the war he refused to receive a house from the city of Richmond, and notly said to the Council. If you have benefactions to bestow, give them to my private soldiers, who are more needy the war, though robbed of his patrimosy, he has steadfastly refused to receive presents that have been offered him. His conduct in this respect has been very strikingly like that of Washington.

The Board of Trustees of the college have found it, therefore, very difficult to make such provision for General Lee as they have field the alike to hum, themselves and the public. He has declined to receive such salary as the board though the ought to have, and they have been puzzled to know what to do.

At their recent weeting the board received a letter from Gen. Lee his which they active dupon Mrs. Lee for life the house in which the General how himself a letter from Gen. Lee his which too behalf of Mrs. Lee) he very respectfully but firmly declines the proffer.

After a fall consideration of the matter the board have, as delicately as possible, decided that they must aftere to their original action—that they cannot seffir the fash of any contingency in which the family of our loved and honored chiefful "grainity," but the payment of a very small part of the debt which the ecologe, the fishes and the contury at large owe to the distinguished patriot, who has developed himself so carrestly and so aspecies and the college he fishes and the contury at large owe to the distinguished patriot, who has developed himself so carrestly and so aspecies and the receiver have showed the contury at large owe to the distinguished patriot, who has developed himself so carrestly and so aspecies and the relieving him of the burden of teter written and of the receiver to the tored of the land.

It is the planest dictate of practical wisdom not to incur any such risks. We hope soon to see the day when all disabilities will be removed, but in the meantmen we entreat you, do not lose the opportunity to strengthen the Democratic and conservative force in Congress, and the possibility, nay, probability of obtaining a majority in the next Home of Representatives by putting it in the power of our adversaries to overthrow and disregard your elections.

The autumn prospect thus presented opens upon us like the dawn of a new day. It we could get rid of the sore-heads and the pig-heeds in our own ranks, we could easily consolidate the conservatism of the committed and bonest government," and overwhelm the Radicals. But, in this as in grery delicate transaction, we have to consider and make allowance for the damage to be done by habitual, constitutional consider and make allowance for the damage to be done by habitual, constitutional and professional marplots. There is always, in every party, a little body of obtinate and impracticable men, some of them obstinate by nature and others impracticable from choice, who pretending the most violent real, are really doing all they can do to destroy the usefulness of those who are wiser, or cooler, or more sincere than themselves. The Democratic masses must hewere of zealots. They are almost invariably made up of zelfah and designing persons, who have axes to grind, and, when they do not belong to this class, they are either stupidly ignorant or will-fafly perverse.

We sincerely believe that there is but one hope for "constitutional, economical, e organization. But to those who are willing to lay saids their follies, if they will not shandon them, as to those who are willing to sacrifice their peculiar opinions for the sake of organizing upon the most comprehensive basis, we say, "come and put your shoulder to the wheel, as welcome and as free as any." For, in the words of the Democratic address—directed not only to the discontented among Democrats but to "the friends of constitutional, economical, and honest governtional, economical, and honest govern-ment" everywhere — we repeat, "LET SION OF DEAD WANTS, NO MANUFERATIONS OF NARROW AND PROCESS TYNN PERLENG!" That is our platform and at as the Deno ceratic platform; the platform of peace and good government; the platform of victory in the future.

speech that render it always readable, makes some noteworthy comments on "the practical wisdom and good sense" of the recent address of the Democrats in Congress. "It is so asset to visient man to do extreme things," says the Gazette, "that they are continually leading their party into hunders of this kind, and, unfortunately, they are precisely the men who have most influence, although precisely the men who should not have. To rain sufficient strength with the masses to casely the men who should not have. To gain sufficient strength with the masses to overturn the power of the wicked faction which has ruled this country so long, and decolated it with blood, the Democracy must show moderation and that they pos-sess patriotism and statesmanship, or they will never gain the popular confidence.

Men are never converted by sudden jumps, but may be gradually led, step by step, into a total revolution of their political or religious convictions."

That there are some points in regard to which it is impossible to convert the members of the dominant party, and that there are others upon which many of them are in harmony with us is fully recognized in the following passage: "The Democracy want no volent leaders say more, nor extreme men of any hind, but cool, calculating statesmen with craft as well as courage. Such a man as Sawano is worth age. Such a man as Sawam is worth more as a leader and builder-up of a party than a thousand hot-headed orators, even if every one possessed the elequence of Cicirio. The Democracy have never yet taken a step in the right direction toward breaking down the Radical party, and for the very reason that they have been too extreme and have not gone close enough to their opponents to attract any considerable number of the enemy over to them. The Radicals have more than recruited their losses by entranchising the negroes. but what have the Democracy done to attract recruits from Radicalism? Abso-lutely nothing or next to nothing. The policy indicated in the address of the Con-gressional Sanhodrum is the very first step

But the Gazette goes farther than we do when it says that the Democratic party "must go as near as possible to all the is-sues and errors of Radicalism and start cess." While we consede that "the address gives good adrice and the only advice that will be productive of good," we do not hold it so "very distanteful" as it appears to the Gazette, because we do not believe that it proposes to adopt a single "error or issue of Radicalium," but simply that we shall accept the eccomplished facts which we cannot reverse, and address ourselves to work that is alike needful and practicable.

This is the title which a highly-linag-inative Redical journal of Palfadelphia bestows upon ex-Goyernor Currix, of Pennsylvania, now American Minister at St. Peteraburg. The herculean labors which Our Great War Governor performed in his efforts to crush the rebellion seem to have shattered his constitution at the have shattered his constitution all to months' stay at the warm springs of Germany, which he has been told are the true fountains of youth to the broken-done and physically played-out patriots of all lands. It is melancholy to reflect that lands. It is melancholy to reflect that this renowned hero of the late war has little or nothing else to show for his wonderful devotion to his country's flag through years of toll and danger and death but a constitution broken down by the stoims of state and the smash and smell of battle snuffed aiar off, and that he is now torced to abandon even for a brief while the field where glory, waits him and seek health and repose in other lands. Godlike as he is, he must take some little pride in the proud title of Our Great War.

seck health and repose in other lands. Godlike as he is, he must take some little pride in the proud title of Our Great War Governor, bestowed upon him by a journal published in the midst of a grateful people; but when, in moments of sed memory and melancholy retrospection, his mind dwells upon the price at which that title was purchased, he must feel that he paid far more for it than it is really worth.

Sincs writing the above, which was untended to be made several paragraphs longer and far more touching toward its close, we have found in the Philadelphia Bulletin the following cruel remarks, not to characterise them as a villainous outrage, under the miserable and wholly-unjustifiable head of "Boah." To wit: "It is very sad to think that so many of the step-at-home rangers should have suffered in health through their arduous services in suppressing the rebellion. Mr. Cuntur has been in the habit of issuing bulletins about his physical condition ever since he suppressing the rebellion. Mr. Currix has been in the habit of issuing bulletins about his physical condition ever since he woni out of office, and it is gratifying to know that, although his improvement has been slow, it is likely to be permanent, for really we are rather tired of hearing that he is weak but improving, and candidly we do not think his case is half as bad as has been made out. If Currix had lost his health through arduous services in the swamps of the Chickahominy we would feel for him a respectful sympathy; but, as his comfortable arm-chair at Harrisburg was not a very unhealthy base of operations, we doubt whether his efforts for the suppression of the rebellion were altogether responsible for the present weakness of his physical condition. DISEASES OF THE BLOOD. "The life of the flesh is in the blood," is a Scriptural maxim that science proves to be true. The people talk of bad blood as the cause of many diseases, and, like many popular opinions, this of bad blood is founded in truth. The symptoms of had blood are usually quite plain—bad digestion causes imperfect nutrition, and consequently the circulation is feeble, the soft tissues lose their tone and elasticity, and the tongue becomes pale, broad, and frequently covered with a pasty, white coat. This condition soon shows itself in roughness of the skin, then in eruptive and ulcerative diseases, and, when long continued, results in serious lesions of the brain, liver, lungs, or urinary apparatus. Much, very much, suffering is caused by impure blood. It is estimated by some that one-fifth of the human family are affected with scrofuls in some form. When the blood is pure, you are not so liable to any disease. Many fourities of the blood arise from impure diseases of large cities. DISEASES OF THE KIDNEYS AND BLADDER. Persons unacquainted with the structure and functions of the Kidneys cannot estimate the importance of their health action. Regular and sufficient action mate the importance of their healthy action. Regular and sufficient action of the Kidneys is as important, nay, even more so, than regularity of the bowels. The Kidneys remove from the blood those effect matters which, if permitted to remain, would speedily distroy life. A total suspension of the urmary discharges will occasion death in from thirty-six to forty-eight hours. When the urine is voided in small quantities at the time, or when there is a disposition to urinate more frequently tolered or scalding with, weakness it the small of the back, it should not be trified with or delayed, but Koekoo should be taken at once to remedy the difficulty, before a lenion of the organs takes place. Most of the diseases of the Bladder originate from those of the Kidneys, the urine being imperfectly secreted in the Kidneys, proves irritating to the Bladder and urinary passages. Where we recollest that medicine never reaches the Kidneys except through the general circulation of the blood, we see how necessary it is to keep the Fountain of Life pure.

Yesterday at noon, while George Hoblitzel, a well-known German huckster, was scated at the dinner-table, surrounded by his family, at his residence on Marion street, between Tryon and Pocabonias, he remarked to his wife that he would not live longer than five minutes. His wife did not pay much attention to the remark at the time, and, looking at him, could see nothing in his appearance to indicate death so soon, but after finishing the meal he retired into an adjoining room, where he died sure enough as he had said. It was thought by the physicians who examined the corpse that death was caused by apoplexy. He was a member of the Gruetli Society.
